

Brittingham completes requirements for real estate broker's license

ROYERS-FORD- Terese Brittingham, an owner of Keller Williams Realty Group, one of the nation's fastest-growing, full-service real estate companies, recently completed the requirements for her real estate broker's license.

This designation's requirements embrace some 240 hours of course work, a minimum of three years of professional experience, the successful completion of a determined amount of transactions, as well as a written exam.

Prior to opening the Keller Williams offices at 812 Oak St., last June with partner Tom McCouch, she was an agent with ERA Franchise Systems for nine years.

During that time, the partners were named ERA's top agent team in the country for 1999 and 2000.

She also holds an accreditation from the National Association of Realtors as an Accredited Buyers Representative (ABR) and is a member of the Delaware Valley Board of Realtors and Tri-County Chamber of Commerce.

A native of the Norristown area, Brittingham is a graduate of Bishop Kendrick High School and holds a bachelor of science degree in science from Temple University.
